There is romance alive today in this world so many claim to be nonexsistant.

Amazing works of art. These poems will captivate you and keep you leaning closer and closer until the very end.

I would like to give special recognition to one particular artist especially. If nothing else please take time to read Figuring Out It's Love by a very passionate artist, Dottie Darlene Fry, who has clearly felt the rise and fall and adventure of falling in love. That unsure idea that someone could make you feel all these emotions and take your breathe away without even trying. Then suddenly.....well...find out for yourself. ♥? Feel the magic of falling in love all over again.
